HIGHLIGHT
2026

“For me it’s important that a toy always has a clear challenge character and is self-explanatory. I am very happy when children are naturally encouraged to move outside in nature and use their imagination to discover new ways to play.”

Ansgar Honkomp, Senior Designer beleduc

NATURE & CHILDREN

At beleduc we are passionate about encouraging interaction and connection between children and nature that enable children to learn and develop themselves. We believe that children who are in a qualitative interaction with nature on a daily basis, become the perfect ambassador to protect and promote initiatives for the environment and climate-friendly behavior.

At beleduc, we are also curious about what the research tells us, especially the Nordic research confirms that children who spend time in nature and are allowed to play and experiment in nature, develop better motor skills, better attention, better problem solving and are healthier than children who do not spend much time out in nature.

We want to contribute with play and learning environments which support the child's holistic development.

With our TopPlay range of products, we now offer the same high degree of play, experience, and learning, but now in a format that contributes to a qualitative outdoor play and learning environment.

We are fully aware that children's play, experiences, and learning achieves good conditions when we move everyday activities outdoors and use them in a new and exciting way.

As an initiative to pursue this important nature education vision, we have established a collaboration with a Danish sustainability award-winning nature kindergarten expert - Michael Hall Larsen.

"In nature, we learn with our whole body, with our hands, eyes, ears, brain and heart. Nature is a place where children can touch, feel and try things out in practice."

SHUTTLE TRIKE »MAXI«

Our new Shuttle Trike "Maxi" is quickly becoming the great attraction on playgrounds and in schoolyards: in role-play, the trike turns into a taxi, a chariot for the ancient Romans, or a fire or police car rushing to a rescue mission. "Hop on – hop off" is the motto here, as the trike is suitable for multiple children. One child can drive and steer in the front, while several children can stand and ride in the back. With durable powder coating on the aluminium foot-board, the trike is perfectly equipped and non-slip due to its ribbed structure. The extra-large robust tires make the Shuttle Trike the ideal vehicle for older children.
